

Hartmut Müller, Prof. Dr.-Ing.

Chair Elect of International Federation of Surveyors FIG Commission 3 Spatial Information Management.

Graduated in geodesy and obtained a doctorate degree at the University of Karlsruhe, Germany, worked several years full-time in marketing, project management, software and system development at various companies in Germany and abroad, has been professor at Mainz University of Applied Sciences since 1991, for geoinformatics since 2001. Member of board of the Research Institute for Spatial Information and Surveying Technology, i3mainz, since its foundation in 1998, head of research and development projects. Ongoing activity in national and international scientific and professional associations, regular scientific publications in international journals and invited lectures at national and international scientific congresses. Working as an expert for the accreditation of study programmes, as reviewer of national and international publicly funded research programmes, and of international scientific journals.